DEVELOPMENTAL TEACHING ORDER
The HWT teaching order is planned to help children learn handwriting skills in the easiest, most efficient way. It’s also developmentally planned to start with a review of the easy letters: the capitals. They are the first letters children learn. Your first graders probably know them, but you want to be sure they print them correctly. The capital teaching order will help you teach:

1. Correct formation: All capitals start at the top. Strokes are made in the correct sequence.
2. Correct orientation: No reversals.

To do this, start by teaching letters in groups on Gray Blocks.

Frog Jump Capitals
These letters start at the top left corner with a big line on the left. When the first line is on the left, the next part is on the “right” side. This prevents reversals, while teaching good stroke habits.

Starting Corner Capitals
Reviewing these letters ensures that children start at the top left and use the left-to-right formation habit. Printing follows the same order as reading—top to bottom and left to right. This group promotes that habit.

Center Starters
COQGSAITJ
C O Q G start with a Magic C stroke. The good habits children learn here with C O S T J will make learning c o s t j much easier. There will be no problems with stroke direction or reversals.

The lowercase teaching order promotes similar success:

1. Good habits for letter formation: All lowercase letters (except d and e) begin at the top.
2. Correct placement: The tall, small, and descending letters are in proportion and placed correctly.
3. Correct orientation: No b – d confusion, no g – q confusion, no reversed letters!

To do this, the letters are taught in these groups:

c o s v w t

These high frequency letters begin with the familiar Magic c. Starting with c placed correctly helps children make and place the d tall and g descending.

a d g

Here are the rest of the vowels: u i e. Letters u k y j are familiar from capitals. The focus will be on careful placement and size.

u i e l k y j

They dive! They start with the same pattern: dive down, come up, swim over! We avoid b – d confusion by separating the letters and teaching them in different groups.

p r n m h b

Finally f! Letter f has a tricky start. Letter q is taught here to avoid g – q confusion. Letters x and z are familiar, but infrequently used.

f q x z
